

About the Author

Nancy Jane, as she is known to her friends and neighbors, could be your “Nana.” She is a local artist who spent the last fifty years painting, sculpting, and writing poetry and this series of novels. Born in Chicago, Illinois to Danish parents, she is rumored to have a splash of ancient royal Danish blood. Nancy Jane now lives in a subdivision that until recently was her farm in Pennsylvania. Her English gardens, Koi pond, and chattering creek still surround the property. Over the years, Nancy Jane raised four boys and many more dogs and cats. Recently widowed, Nancy Jane is putting the finishing touches on this series of four contemporary fantasy books geared toward a youthful audience. Nancy Jane is known for her quick mind, her kindness toward others, and her affection for exceptional immigrant Danish Elves.
